HOW DID THE FUND PERFORM LAST YEAR AND WHAT AFFECTED ITS PERFORMANCE?

For the twelve-month period ended August 31, 2025, the Fund underperformed its benchmark, the MSCI EAFE Total Return Index. As part of its investment objective to seek total returns, the Fund seeks to augment passive international equity exposures with active currency positions, providing a distinct, diversifying source of potential alpha within the space. More specifically, the Fund’s investment strategy seeks to combine the performance of 1) certain U.S. Dollar hedged global equity index futures and 2) the Advisor’s proprietary FX Strategy, which is focused on providing exposure to international currency markets.

WHAT FACTORS INFLUENCED PERFORMANCE

Fund performance was driven largely by the MSCI EAFE, which posted strong performance during the period. FX Strategy performance was mainly driven by Euro positioning.

POSITIONING

FX Strategy positioning remained net long USD during the period, driven by a variety of factors. Firstly, growth prospects for the U.S. have stabilized and have even improved relative to global counterparts. Secondly, interest rate differentials, between the U.S. and other developed countries, remain attractive. Thirdly, speculators hold extreme levels of short U.S. Dollar positions. Finally, the U.S. Dollar weakness has made the Euro very expensive on a trade-weighted basis.

HOW DID THE FUND PERFORM SINCE INCEPTION?*

The $10,000 chart reflects a hypothetical $10,000 investment in the class of shares noted. The chart uses total return net asset value performance and assumes reinvestment of dividends and capital gains. Fund expenses, including management fees and other expenses were deducted.
